

FCC-

Please deny the petition filed by the Consumer Bankers Association that will seriously weaken the Indiana Do Not Call list. If I wanted to be pestered by credit card and loan companies, I could just open the endless junk mail of credit card and loan offers that fill my mailbox. I do not want my evening hours of supposed peace filled with phone calls where I have to try not to be rude while telling the telemarketer to leave me alone. Out of all of the telemarketer calls that have wasted my time in my entire life, NOT ONE has actually been something that was worth while. Not a single one in twenty seven years. Members of the CBA who I may have an account with, should not call me about anything other than suspicious use of my account and over due type account calls. They should not call me about some new fabulous program they want to lure me into. If I was that interested in something of that nature, I can read the literature they put in with statements. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,
Cindy Kern McMillen
